CHINESE BROUGHT UP

he Police Court calendar this morning I'en Chinese were charged with conucting a lottery, namely, paka pio.

This game has been very much in ogue in this city for some time and Detective David Kaapa was detailed to out a stop to it.

Paka pio is a lottery conducted some what on the principle of the fa with ickets and words.

In che fa, however, there are only hirty-six words, and the winner gets In paka pio, there are eighty words and the player has a chance of vinning up to $300.

As the bankers are very careful, hey are almost as difficult to convict as the che fa people. The cases this norning were continued until tomorow morning as the prosecution was not quite ready to proceed to trial. Another charge, namely, that of havng tickets in their possession, was pre erred against the defendants. This ase was also continued until tomorrow

When Judge Wilcox asked them if they knew what they were swearing to, they stated that they did not. They were cheerfully willing to swear to it anyhow The complaint was then explained to them and duly sworn to.

Besides the ten defendants above nentioned five Chinese were charged with being present at a place where a gambling game was carried on. Their cases were also continued. Attorney F. M. Brooks appeared for

OLD PRISON SHIP New York, Oct. 13.-Pile drivers. puilding a section of the new ways for the construction of the new battleship Connecticut at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, discovered today the famous En glish prison-ship Jersey, on which sev-eral hundred Americans, who were prisoners at the time of the Revolution, died while the British held New Historical societies, Government gur veys and other researches for many years have failed to locate the ship.

The half-burned hull is lying in about two fathoms of mud and water in front of Main street, about 500 feet from the dock. The timbers of the Jersey are believed to be in good condition. Borings proved that they are of oak and It is estimated that it will cost $500 to raise the hulk. Officials of the navy yard think that the authorities will not ermit the hulk being raised because of the delay it would cause.
